

Ethan Joyner – Baltimore, MD

Ethan Joyner is a sophomore attending Moran State University, majoring in mechatronics and automation engineering. He is currently volunteering for his local FRC team, Baltimore Bolts (6326), and is a part of Morgan State's NASA Lunabotics team. He plans to pursue a career in general-purpose robotics and is looking forward to a more machine-integrated and automated future.